A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

HARD TIMES.

From the Richmond Compiler.

LORD COCHRANE.

The seizing of the 142,000 dollars, has excited much feeling in Boston and in Baltimore.—The Macedonian was laden on American account—the trade was a fair one—and the seizure is alleged to have been a gross and unjustifiable robbery. The facts reported are these:

The cargo was sold at Callao to the agents of the Phillippine Company for cash.

The specie was a contraband article—it could not be shipped in neutral vessels—therefore, it was stipulated that the amount should be paid on board the Macedonian in Callao, at the purchaser's risk—that is, they were to take the risk of shipping the specie.

Meantime, Cochrane declares Callao in a state of blockade, and orders all neutral vessels out, with permission to go to another port, the port of Guermez.

The Macedonian proceeds to that port without taking in her specie at Callao—but her captain orders it to be taken by land to that port. For its security, he obtained a regular pass in his own name, and a permission from the Vice King—he settled his accounts, and received his balance from the Philippine Company—and he considers all responsibility on their part at an end

On the road to Guermez with 80,000 dols. he is waylaid by a detachment from Cochrane's squadron, who capture the cash.

The balance of 62,000 dollars is put on board of a French brig, to be landed in some place of safety on the coast—Lord Cochrane obtains information of this circumstance, captures the French brig, and takes the specie out of her.

He then distributes the whole spoil between the government of Chili, his officers and crews, and himself.

The American Vice Consul at Valparaiso, was remonstrating against the capture, and demanding the restoration of the money.

The reasons, pro and con, may possibly be summed up in a few words: Lord Cochrane will perhaps urge, "The Phillippine Company were bound to deliver you the money in bond, until then the money was at their risk. It was theirs until it was shipped on board your vessel. Now as I took it on shore, I took only what was Spanish property, which I had a right to take. You must look to the Philippine Company, who will make you whole. As for my part, I only make the loss fall where it ought to fall, upon my enemy, or rather the enemy of Chili."

The owners of the Macedonian reply:—"The Company were bound to ship the money at Callao, but we prefer transporting it by land to Guermez. This was our own choice, and by so doing, we dispensed with their obligation to deliver it on board. We took the risk then on ourselves. And besides, we adjusted our accounts at Callao, and received the balance due to us. It was our property, therefore, not theirs; and the loss falls upon us, a neutral, not on them, an enemy.—Therefore we look to you, not to them, for reimbursement."

The strength of the argument seems to lie with the Macedonian; and if so, the Chili Government must reimburse us for the acts of its agent. Chili indeed should "reform" the customs of her officers "altogether." They distribute prize money without the process of a prize-court. Whereas, pirates alone take upon themselves to use property without a regular investigation to decide whether it be good prize. Had this course been taken with the cargo of the Macedonian, it might have appeared that the capture was unlawful—and Chili might have been saved the necessity of re-imbursing to the tune of 140,000 dollars.

It is singular that about the epoch of this seizure, the following official letter should have been addressed to Lord Cochrane, complimenting him upon his respect for neutral rights. This document is copied from a file of the London Times, (in September last,) now before us:

LORD COCHRANE.

The following document from Venezuela has been transmitted from a mercantile house in the city, to which it was forwarded by their correspondent, one of the subscribers:

Valparaiso, April 17.

SIR.—As it frequently happens to the commanders of British merchant vessels trading to foreign ports where no resident consuls are appointed, that they have to lay their complaints before the first British naval officer who appears, and call on him for redress of grievances, we think you cannot be displeased, as senior British officer on this station, to receive the unanimous testimony of all the British masters of vessels and resident agents in this port, in regard to the conduct of Lord Cochrane, who, in the absence of both British and American sloops of war, has uniformly protected the neutral rights of all our merchant vessels.

From the day he hoisted his flag as Commander in chief of the Chilian navy, till the day of his sailing, he not only abstained from every act for which the difficulty of manning his ships might have afforded a pretence; but actually rendered every possible assistance which could have been expected from our own ships of war; and we know of no instance where any seamen were allowed to enter for his squadron, contrary to the wishes of their employers; but, in several cases, men who had volunteered, and actually received a bounty, were given up on the first application.

We think this voluntary testimony only an act of justice to Lord Cochrane, being aware that many reports were in circulation at Lima to his prejudice, which might have reached your ears.

We have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servants.

On the 11th inst. Junius Tuttle, a promising son of gen. Jehiel Tuttle, of Windham, was so severely injured by being drawn into the smut machine attached to the grist-mill of J. Strong, that he died.

Last week an infant child of Mr. J Palmer, of this town, was burnt to death by its clothes taking fire.

From the Connecticut Courier, Nov. 17.

ACCIDENTS.

On Friday night last as two sons of Mr. John Hull, in Newtown, were attending a coal kiln, and being asleep in their cabin, it accidently took fire, and was instantly enveloped in flames; the eldest one roused from his slumbers, sprang from his perilous situation and endeavored to rescue his brother, but before he could effect this he was suffocated by the uncontrolable elements, and he only found him a lifeless corpse.

While Mr. Hull Merwin was returning from Fairfield to Greenfield with an ox-team, on Wednesday last, and walking by the side of the oxen, he unfortunately tripped and fell, when the wheel passed over his head and broke his jaw bone in a shocking manner, and otherwise so severely bruised him, that faint hopes are entertained of his recovery.

We hear that two young men while on a hunting excursion one day last week, pursuing a squirrel which had taken a refuge in a fence, they being on opposite sides; one of them in firing at the squirrel, lodged the contents of his piece in the hip and bowels of his companion; medical aid was immediately procured, but his life despaired of.

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.

Yesterday afternoon as a gentleman was examing some guns in a gun-smith's shop, in the Northern Liberties, one of them went off and discharged the whole load into the breast of a person in the shop. He instantly expired. The frequency with which accidents of this kind are noticed, ought certainly to be a caution to persons in the habit of handling fire arms.

We learn from Adams county, Pen. that the woods on South Mountain, near Gettysburg, have been for some time on fire; and that the flames, in their progress have consumed extensive fences, much valuable timber, a barn with its contents belonging to Mr. Ripple. The new chapel on the mountain, built by Mr. Lowstetter, caught the fire from the adjacent woods, and burnt to the ground.

We have letters from N. Orleans to the 25th ult. The fever of that place, although somewhat mitigated in its malignity, still raged, making the town, as it were "a grave yard."

Woodbury, N. J. Nov. 18.

We learn with regret, that a valuable barn, belonging to Mr. Murphy, near Sandtown, with all its contents, consisting of rye, hay, &c. together with two horses and 3 cows, was destroyed on Sunday evening last by fire. It is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

MURDER.

On Sunday morning last, the lifeless body of Edward Nixon, house carpenter, of this borough, was found on the North West road, about 4 miles beyond the great bridge, supposed to have been murdered. His head was dreadfully fractured, and the wound appeared very recently inflicted. It is strongly suspected that he was murdered by a couple of negro men, whom he had taken up and flogged the preceding night while on patrole. If so, it was a most daring act on their part, as it must have been done in broad day light, and in a very public place. Nixon had been for some time working at his trade in the vicinity of the great bridge, but has a wife and family in this town. [Norfolk, Va. Her.

It is stated by persons who were in Wilmington, N. C. during the late fire there, that the most astonishing apathy prevailed among the citizens during the progress of the fire. The engines were drawn into the streets, where they were abandoned and destroyed, while many of the inhabitants stood gazing at the awful spectacle, without lending the least assistance to stop the progress of the flames. The inhabitants were suffering much distress, in consequence of so great a portion being thrown for shelter and subsistence upon the charity of the other. [Charles. pa.

HINT TO DISTILLERS.

Distillers will find it much to their advantage, to have the corn ground with the cob that they use in their distilleries.

A DISTILLER.

Remark.—The above hint is communicated by an observing, practical man, who does every thing he undertakes in the best manner—and who ever cheerfully imparts any new experiment he may make, either in distilling or farming, in both of which he is successfully engaged. [Herald.

VEGETABLES.

The following easy remedy to counteract the effects of frost on tender vegetables has been communicated by a gentleman who has tried the experiment. The method he takes is to water the vegetables on a frosty morning, before the sun shines upon them; for it is to be remembered, that it is the sun which which completes their destruction and not the frost itself.

From the London Morning Chronicle, Oct. 7.

Extract of a letter dated, "Irun, September 18.

"The Chief topics that absorb the attention of politicians in the country at present are, the coming of the new Queen, the Florida treaty, and the nomination of a new Prime Minister, in the person of the Duke de San Fernando. To the first no other importance is attached unless it is a hope that amidst the felicitations in Spain, usual on occasions like these, the king may be induced to unlock some of the dungeons and give back to their friends and society at least a portion of the sufferers by whom they are crowded. This, however, is a point by no means settled, and indeed if it were, it could only effect a few families, for the king seems to nourish an idea that his throne would no longer be secure, if those who partook in the labors of the late Constitution were at large in such momentous times as the present.

"With regard to the Florida treaty and the singular intrigues by which its non-ratification has been accompanied, some new facts daily come out. Among other extraordinary circumstances, the Spanish minister in the course of the negociation, required of Mr. Forsyth a categorical explanation, whether or not he was authorized, in case his catholic majesty agreed to ratify the treaty, to annex thereto a new article, in which the United States would pledge and bind themselves not to acknowledge the independence of Buenos Ayres. It is understood that the American plenipotentiary readily answered, that although his instructions gave him no powers to enter into any new articles whatever, but merely urge the ratification of an instrument that already wore a perfect and official form; yet, nevertheless he felt himself perfectly authorised to state, in the name of his government, that such a proposition was totally inadmissable. He further added, that his impressions were, that the government of the United States would recognize the independence of Buenos Ayres, or any other of the free sections of South America, whenever they conceived the governments of those countries had attained sufficient strength and stability to warrant such recognition; and, that if they had not already determined on a line of policy with regard to the new states in South America, respecting whose situation they had been at some pains to be officially informed, it was from motives totally independent of their existing relations with Spain. The American envoy further assured king Ferdinand's minister, that nothing but a desire to evince to the world the amicable disposition of the United States, had prevented him from withdrawing from Madrid, the very instant it was officially notified to him that the ratification would not take place; adding, that in the same spirit of forbearance which had so strongly marked the whole negociations so long pending between the American and Spanish Cabinets, he would await the final instructions and determination of his government, which he hoped to receive before the end of September. At the close of this interesting and spirited communication, Mr. Forsyth assured the Spanish Cabinet, that they were not henceforward to consider any one of the conditions stipulated in the treaty in question as binding on the United States. After so long, tedious and irritating a discussion as that which the Florida question has given rise to in Madrid, Mr. Forsyth retired to the country, till the final instructions of his government should reach him.

"With regard to the third topic, I will only state, that the Duke de San Fernando, who had been appointed envoy extraordinary from his catholic majesty to the United States, in a full council, at which the king presided, formally represented together with the Duke del Infantado, and the Infante don Carlos, brother to the king, that it would not comport with the dignity and high character of the Spanish monarchy to send an eminently distinguished or illustrious individual, and particularly one united by marriage to the royal family, on an embassy to a republic, and he therefore entreated to be excused in not accepting the mission.—His majesty it appears, not only penetrated with the force of these reasons, but conceiving that the duke might be of essential service at home, nominated him prime minister; and it further appears, that up to the 12th inst. the day I quitted Madrid, no other ambassador had been appointed to the United States, though the greatest anxiety prevailed on the subject, and the Spanish cabinet began to see the awkward predicament in which they were placed. Indeed several of the members had strenuously advised the king not to let the grand expedition sail till the views of the Americans were fully ascertained.

"As Spanish court calendars have no very extensive circulation in Europe, and the grandees of this country, which they seldom quit are not very generally known, a little biographical outline of the duke de San Fernando, whose name you will perhaps have occasion soon to see affixed to state papers may not be unacceptable. The duke belongs to an old and respectable Andalusian family of the name of Melgarejo, that has enjoyed the title of Marquiss de Casa Malgarejo. If I recollect well his father was captain-general of the department of Ferrol, consequently a naval character. The present duke is of the age of king Ferdinand, was his play-mate, of course always near the palace. He married the king's aunt, the sister of the Cardinal de Burbon, now Archbishop of Toledo, the other sister married Godoy, the famous prince of peace. He was a colonel of Cavalry at the commencement of the late Spanish revolution, but I do not know of any monument raised to his valor, or any record of his military or political services during that momentous period. Being a favorite of the king and allied to him by marriage, Ferdinand raised him to the Dukedom of San Fernando, or rather made him a namesake. I leave you to judge how far an education in a Spanish palace can have fitted the Duke to become a plenipotentiary to the United States, or the Premier of Spain.

REMARKABLE OBSCURITY.

On Saturday last the weather w... bright and unclouded; but at 8 o'cloc... in the evening the sky became surcha... ged with heavy black clouds from t... N. W. and snow fell in large flakes. ... The next morning, these clouds we... diffused over the sky; and there d... cended a heavy shower of blackish ra... which was found to contain a substan... resembling soot. Towards evening ... however, the weather cleared, and ye... terday morning was ushered in by ... hard frost. This gradually relaxed un... der the influence of a weighty dam... vapour, which decended from a thi... stratum of clouds that seemed progres... sively to deepen in colour and density ... and at noon the darkness was so gre... that candles were burning in the Court ... House, the Banks, and in most of th... offices in the city. The gloom alter... nately increased or diminished, accord... ing to the ascendancy of the wind, whic... during the day, was changeable; til... three o'clock, when a body of cloud... from the North East brought the ob... scurity to its climax. At this moment ... there certainly reigned a very general ... awe. While the inhabitants were ex... pressing to each other their surprise ... and exchanging opinions on the prob... ble cause of an appearance so unusua... they were almost electrified by a bril... liant flash of lightning succeeded by ... a clap of thunder that was echoed and ... reverberated for many seconds after ... its cause had passed.

This was followed by some others—rain again fell—and there seemed a good prospect of fair weather; but it was of short duration, for the clouds a... gain accumulated from the N. E. and ... at 4 o'clock it was nearly as dark as ... before. Suddenly, the Tocsin was tol... led by every bell in the city, and the ... streets resounded with the cries of Fire! ... Fire! Montreal certainly, at this mo... ment exhibited a scene which it has, ... (we believe) never before presented, and ... which had a most appalling and wild ... effect. The sky was veiled in gloom—the place d'Arms was crowded—was ... continually swelling by the floods of ... people who poured in from all the adja... cent streets—and, towering over the ... heads of the throng, was to be seen the ... steeple of the French parish church, ... with its ball blazing like a meteor, and ... throwing out, from the foot of the cross ... with which was surmounted, radiations ... of sparks rendered lurid by the incum... bent and surrounding haze. Never was ... there shown a greater zeal than was ... exhibited on this occasion. The differ... ent engines were in a moment on the ... spot; lines were formed almost involun... tarily; and every one seemed to think ... alone on the means of preserving the ... holy edifice. The ball continued to ... burn for a long time, being inaccessible ... to water; the tin, however, with which ... the steeple was covered, retarded its ... progress, and the wind was fortunately ... very gentle.

By the activity of the people an en... gine was raised to the belfry, from ... which water was conveyed through a ... trap door, into the interior of the stee... ple to prevent the extension of the ... flames. The fire was happily extinct ... by half past 8 in the evening. It had ... however, a quarter of an hour before, ... consumed the timber in which the cross ... was inserted, so that it fell on that part ... of the wall above the principal entrance ... and broke in many pieces, the largest ... of which decended on the pavement.—Thus terminated the events of this ... day, which will long be remembered by ... the inhabitants of Montreal, and be ... classed with the dark Sunday of 1785, ... we have omitted to state that the rain ... which descended yesterday, was similar ... to that of last Sunday; but contained

We have been informed that many persons crossed to the other side of the river, expecting the accomplishment of a traditional prediction the Island of Montreal is to be swallowed up by an earthquake. For the truth of this information, however, we will not vouch.

London, Sept. 10.

In one instance in Germany, the Collegians armed, took the part of the persecuted Jews and drove off their assailants.

A seamen, rather badly rigged, applied lately to an officer of the Superb, now in Plymouth Sound, to be entered on the ship's books; the lieutenent, observing his ragged appearance, said he would not do. "I hope," returned Jack with the characteristic simplicity of a British tar, "that your honor will not condemn the hull for the sake of the rigging."—This reply excited the attention of the officer, and the weather-beaten tar being sent below for a belly full and new riggin, turned out to be one of the best seamen in the ship, and is now doing duty on the forecastle.

General Quarter Sessions, Sierra Leone.

MURDER.

In the beginning of April a Maroon, named Willian Webb, was tried for the wilful murder of Diana Spence, with whom he had been intimate upwards of 20 years.—The court-house was crowded to excess.—There is an extraordinary fact connected with this case. It is the first murder that has taken place since the introduction of the Bible to the Island by the associated Societies of London. Previously to that event, murders were little more than ordinary transactions, in a place where jealousy operated with such violence as at Sierra Leone. The Maroon was convicted.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor, and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named about 22 years of age, his fore teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there.—I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home. 100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BURGES. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite. Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Burges ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug. and was caught on the 11th inst. on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan, while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county, and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.
I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.
I. T STODDERT,

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
